Description:

So you want to produce a short film. Or design a new line of jewelry. Or manufacture a revolutionary solar-powered garden sprinkler. There's just one catch: You need $100,000 to bankroll your dream, and your checking account has barely enough to cover the rent. Enter Kickstarter.com—the phenomenal “crowdfunding” website launched in 2009 that brings venture capital to the masses. At Kickstarter, it's not uncommon for entrepreneurs to raise $50,000, $100,000, $250,000, or more. All you need is a great idea—and The Kickstarter Handbook. Business journalist Don Steinberg has interviewed dozens of artists and inventors who launched their passion projects online. Through their voices, you'll explore all the strategies of a successful Kickstarter campaign. You'll learn the elements of a compelling Kickstarter video, innovative ways to market your projects, tips for getting donors onboard, and the secrets of irresistible Kickstarter "rewards." You'll also discover what to do in a best-case scenario—when your project goes viral and the cash starts flowing in. On Kickstarter, it happens to a few lucky visionaries every week. Here's how to be one of them.

I actually found out about Kickstarter before it was widely known--should have been faster to pitch my own product, but...woulda, coulda, shoulda. Now, it's entered the popular culture in a major way--a great idea but now many projects are competing for donors and even with crowdsourcing, funding is getting less and less available. From the title, I expected an anthology of success stories so actually I was pleasantly surprised to find that, while it has some of those, it is mainly a how to that tells how Kickstarter works and how to present and fund a project through it. For that reason, I like it and especially recommend it to anyone who thinks they have a project that might have a wide appeal and wants to know how to pitch it. (And not sure how this review shows up--yes, I got it from Vine but lost it and ordered it so I could do the review. So...a twofer, hopefully, in the listing.)
